

Lewistown Carnegie Library's

Pest and Insect Policy

The library is routinely sprayed for pest and insects. If the librarian suspects and or determines a patron of introducing insects or pest of any kind into the building when returning materials or while using library facilities, they will have all privileges suspended for an indefinite amount of time. Privileges will be returned at the librarian's discretion. Damages will be assessed for all materials that can no longer be circulated.

Approved October 19, 2015